Week 52

Your last weekly section! Can you believe that you've made it to week 52?

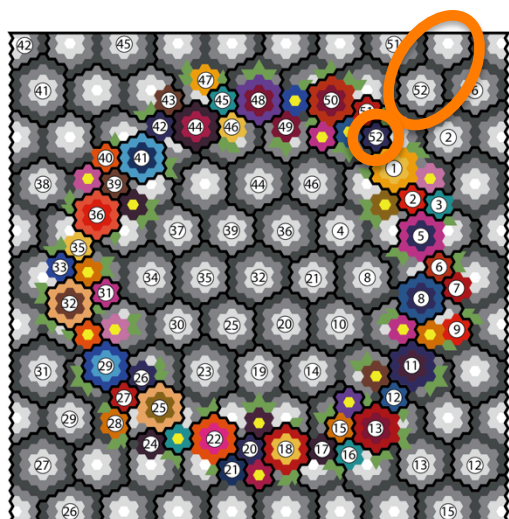

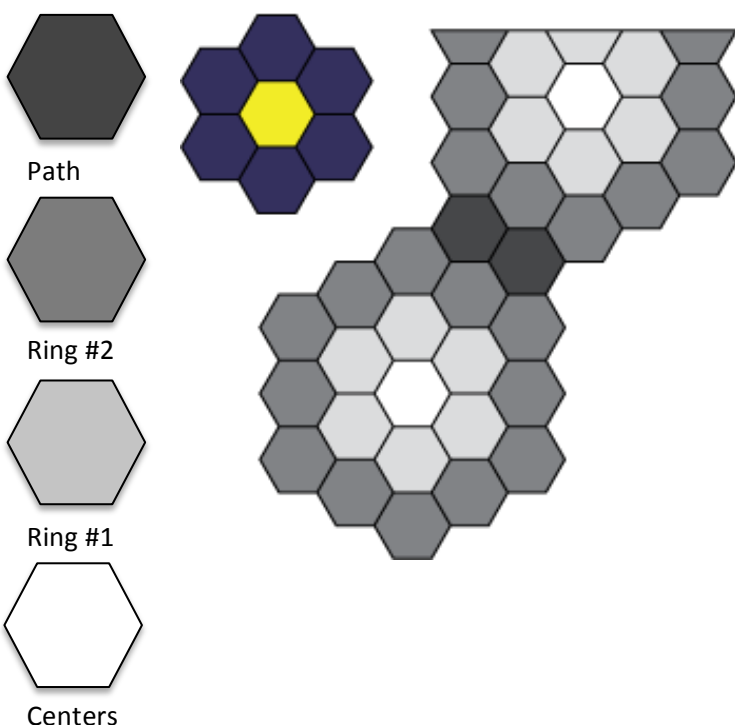

Once week 52 is attached to the weeks 50/51 sections, it's finally time to close the seam between week 52 and the early week's sections.

I'm amazed at the number of participants that have kept up with the weekly sewing, while some have chosen a slower sewing schedule!

Congratulations everyone!

Quilting your Homage to Grandmother's Flower Garden

I've quilted my original HTGFG quilt with all things found in a garden: flowers, vines, leaves, and pebbles. I also hand stitched each flower petal and leaf with 8 wt perle cotton prior to layering and quilting.

Neither my Mom's 1/2 scale version, nor my machine sewn version, made during the weekly sew-along have been quilted yet. It may have to wait until summer.

I love seeing your finished projects, so please continue to post in Instagram using the hash tag: #homagetogfg
